PsycINFO Services & Products Are The Answer To Your Information Needs

ONLY THE BEST

ONLY FROM APA

The PsycINFO® Database

Psychology's most comprehensive source, PsycINFO contains references to all relevant original research and other significant published material, drawn from more than 1,300 journals, dissertations, and technical reports. More than 50,000 new records are added annually. PsycINFO is the source for the printed PA, PsycLIT® on CD-ROM, and the PsycSCAN publications. PsycINFO also offers the PASAR® search service, staffed by specialists who can formulate search strategies tailored to your individual requirements. Look to the PsycINFO database for all your research in psychology and related disciplines.

PSYCINFO
INFORMATION SERVICES IN PSYCHOLOGY

Psychological Abstracts®

The essential reference guide to the world's literature in psychology and the social sciences, PA also covers behavioral issues in law, education, business, and medicine. Beginning with the January 1992 volume, PA not only includes unparalled worldwide coverage of serial literature in psychology, but also book chapter and book records in psychology. The monthly issues offer:

- more entries than ever before
- an annual index
- monthly indexes
- journal publishers' names and addresses in the annual index
- thorough author and subject listings

This resource is an indispensable complement to every library reference shelf.

1994 PA Subscription rates: APA Members - $654; Institutions - $1,307 (additional subscriptions to the same address - $654)

PsycSCANs®

A series of inexpensive, subject-oriented publications especially geared for individual use. Each contains abstracts of the primary literature in selected topics in psychology. APA's newest PsycSCAN, PsycSCAN: Neuropsychology, will keep you up-to-date on current research in aspects of the relationship between the brain and behavior, in a wide range of clinical and nonclinical areas. Nothing provides more flexible psychological search capability than PsycLIT!

The best just got better! PsycLIT, internationally known as the resource that opened the world of computerized bibliographic research to psychologists and students, has expanded its range of options to make PsycLIT more flexible and accessible than ever.

New vendors allow a wider choice of search interfaces. In addition to our long and successful distribution agreement with SilverPlatter, we have also established agreements with CD-PLUS and EBSCO. So now you can match PsycLIT to other databases in your reference collection and choose search features that suit your needs and preferences.

TRY PSYCLIT FREE!
Take advantage of our 30-day free institutional try-and-buy opportunity and experience for yourself the power and speed of this acclaimed scientific database.

Network pricing provides access to priceless information at a price that's easy to afford. If the waiting list for that single workstation in your library is getting a little long, we have the solution. Our network configuration accommodates multiple simultaneous users.

Departmental pricing provides additional subscriptions for a fraction of the regular price. If your institution's library subscribes to PsycLIT, the psychology department may qualify for a second subscription at substantial savings.

Psychological Abstracts®

The essential reference guide to the world's literature in psychology and the social sciences, PA also covers behavioral issues in law, education, business, and medicine. Beginning with the January 1992 volume, PA not only includes unparalled worldwide coverage of serial literature in psychology, but also book chapter and book records in psychology. The monthly issues offer:

- more entries than ever before
- an annual index
- monthly indexes
- journal publishers' names and addresses in the annual index
- thorough author and subject listings

This resource is an indispensable complement to every library reference shelf.
